HONGRONG, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 23, 1880

WHEN the houses on Morrison Hill were struck with lightning two years ago, the question of putting up lightning rods was freely discussed. Previous to that warning, it was assumed with some reason that the city of Victoria was almost entirely exempt from danger by lightning. Whether the lofty peaks on the other side of the water, or the lesser hills on this side were or were not supposed to shield the city, we cannot say; but long years of comparative immunity from lightning strokes had engendered a certain amount is the sequel of that good of confidence and lack of precaution. to this circumstance; but it is always better to be forewarned and forearmed than to wake up to the disagreeable truth when it is too late. The miraculous escape recorded in last night's issue slipuld serve as a sufficient warning, were it not that it was an escape. But it should be borne in mind that lightning cannot and ought not always to beexpected to make the circuit of an apartment and so considerately avoid the occupants as it fortunately did on this occasion. Every means, therefore, in our power should be adopted to stave off the possibility of a recurrence of such visitations. It is admitted that we can have but little influence in preventing thunderstorms; indeed it is not clear that adequate good would result were we in a position to do so, as a theory is advanced by some that say a couple of average thunderstorms so relieve the atmospheric powers of nature that the more terrible visitations of typhoons are rendered extremely improbable. But it is only reasonable, in face of present conditions and demonstrated facis, to assert that houses should now be provided with lightning rods just as certainly as they are constructed with the view of resisting the force of a typhcon. Probably the accidental deliverance of the other night will exercise a certain influence upon residents who float flags over their dwellings, and by the hoisting of flagstaffs court the visits of this most destructive and swiftest of all the "fiery elements." But what we desire to point out is this, that the provision against this class of accidents should become as general as that against circular storms, and that it is the business and the interest of all property-owners, to see that such precautionary measures as are necessary are taken before some real catastrophe brings the truth home to them in a less satisfactory way than has been done by the reminders already

LOCAL AND GENERAL

DURING the proceedings of the Coroner's Inquest at the Government Civil Hospital last Monday evening, it transpired that the Tung Wah Hospital did not muster amongst its scientific implements or appliaces, such a thing as a stomach pump. Had such an instrument been available and applied by skilful hands, the life of the woman whose death was then enquired into, would in all probability have been prolong d. At the conclusion of the enquiry the jury expressed a desire to have is placed on record that they were of opinion that the means of preserving life at the Tong Wah Hospital were most inefficient, and they earnestly hoped that some measures would be taken to have the establishment supplied with more complete instruments and medicines. This opinion was, it appears, embodied in the form of a special finding, after our Reporter had left the Hospital

THE Royal Artillery Theatrical Club gave a performance last night which will be repeated this evening. "The Post Boy" was remarkably unwise selection, and the actors and the andience slike felt that the performance was a fallure. Reynolds in the title role acted with conscientionances, ability and success; Fillingham made the utmost that could be made of his part and by his sprightliness and capital by-play made the little piece go. Dade acted carefully and well. And Mrs B. Davis, who made her first appearance here, proved herself ospable of better things than she had the opportunity of doing in the comparatively subordinate character which fell to her lot. The other amateurs named have little claim to praise for the part they took in the piece. The tone they gave to the whole drama was insiple to a degree. The farce of "B. B." followed, and went down fairly as a piece of rollicking fun-The whole performance, however, was gonerally admitted to be one of the poorest the R. A. D. G. has ever given.

The Commissioner proposes four measures :- The prohibition of the sale of opium in the islands of the Kyouk-Phyoo district; the possession of opium, no matter in how small quantities, to be made penal throughout the division; shops to be opened at the head-quarters of certain districts and townships for the sale of oplum, which must be consumed on the premises only; and fourthly, to raise the selling price of the drug, which would be done in conjunction with the Bengal Government,-Lioneer,

If the very interesting letters now being printed in the Times under the heading of Through Siberia" are to be believed, the popular idea of the fate of prisoners sentenced to hard labour in the mines of Siberia is a somewhat exaggerated one. It is generally believed that a man condemned to work in the Siberian mines is virtually condemned to death; that when he descends into his mine he says good-bye to the light of heaven for ever, being kept underground until he dies; and that, living as he thus does amid unhealthy fumes, death is not long in coming. The correspondent of the Times, having heard these statements before. he went to Fiberia, appears to have taken some trouble to ascertain whether they are irue or not, aud after many inquiries " common fairness," he writes, " compels me to say that every one denied that there was any foundation for them. Even," he continues, "the few Poles who spoke so bitterly of the Government did not bring this to their charge; nor did I meet any of the convicts who said as much.". On the contrary, the silver mines were, so far as he could learn, worked on the twelve and sometimes even on the eight hour system while in the gold mines, which he himself visited, the men worked in summer from six in the morning till seven at night, with intervals of rest for meals. In the coal writer that the amount of work allotted to each man per day ought to be got through by an energetic workman in a co ple of bours. On the other hand, it appears that flogging is not infrequently it flicted in a barbarous manner in Siberia. At three stations, but apparently at three stations only-at Kara, Nic luievak, and Saghailen -an instrument called the "troichatka," or plait, is used. From twenty to fifty stripes are usually administered, though the number may be made a hundred; and the writer adds that "when the heavy numbers are inflicted the punishment must be little abort of an execution. Sometimes, in fact, the convicts do not recover from its offects."-Pall Mall Gasette.
